

ROCKY HORROR NO NO LIST

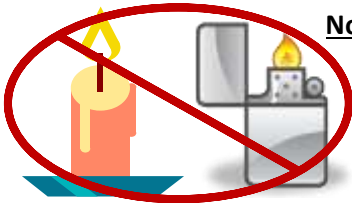

NO Rice

Rice is slippery and ends up in the aisles, could hurt the actors, or damage the screen. Have you tried to prance around in six-inch heels or dance on rice? Yeah, it's really dangerous and therefore a no-no!

No Squirt Guns, Water Pistols, Super Soakers (whatever you want to call them)

The point is to have fun and get a LITTLE BIT WET - not drench the place. Nothing that is shaped like a weapon (no matter the function or color) will be allowed in the building.

No Open Flames

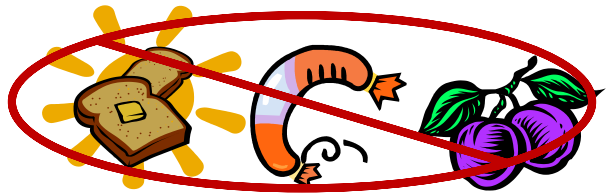

This one falls into the common sense category.

NO open flames will be permitted in the auditorium.

No Full Face Masks

As much fun as it is to dress up, we cannot allow full face masks for safety's sake.

No Real Toast, Hot dogs or Prunes

Hollow plastic, foam, paper or fabric ones are OK. Sticky, wet, buttery, crumbly, perishable food on the floor attracts rodents and leaves stains on the seats. If a hotdog is missed during cleanup it will make an awful stench.

No Outright Nudity

We know everyone is feeling their oats, but keep the important bits covered please.

No Blatant Intoxication

The point is to be loud, and have fun with a cult classic. What you do in your own time is your business, but please keep your $#!+ together at the theater. For crap sake, don't puke on the seats or do illegal things on the premises. Belligerent or violent behavior - regardless of its origin - will not be tolerated.

Do not willfully damage or destroy Theater Property

Pretty simple equation: We enjoy having fun events like Rocky Horror at The Lory Theater. If our stuff gets messed up - we won't want to anymore. Keep it fun!

Highlighted infractions will get you immediately ejected from the auditorium.